

Queensbury Publishes Schedule for Jenkinsville Water Project Community June 17, 2026

The Town Board has published the official schedule for the Jenkinsville community water project.

The board will hold a public hearing on the consolidation of the Jenkinsville Water District into the Queensbury Water District at 7 p.m. Monday, July 6, 2026. The board then is expected to award a contract for construction of the first phase of the Jenkinsville community water project. Installation of water mains is expected to begin shortly thereafter.

This is the first of two major Jenkinsville water projects. The second phase is the installation of service lines that will connect homes to the water mains. The town is expected to award a contract for the installation of service lines to homes in Jenkinsville in 2027, and those homes will begin receiving municipal water. Homes in Zone 1 of the Jenkinsville community will be the first to receive water service. Zone 2 will follow. Zone 1 encompasses the areas where contamination was detected in some private water wells.

As in any construction project large or small, changes are possible. If the town's construction schedule changes, the Town will notify the Jenkinsville community through updates to this web site.
